

In this experiment three LEDs were controlled by three separate push buttons each one switching on its respective LED when it was pushed and turning off when released. Below you can see the physical experiment being tested.

